Discretionary Funds from Governor Beshear to Resurface Sugarloaf Mountain Road, McBrayer Road, and Morgan Fork Road

The discretionary funding awards presented by Governor Beshear could not have come at a better time, and we extend to him our unwavering gratitude for his support. This $378,000 will ensure the resurfacing of Sugarloaf Mountain Road, McBrayer Road, and Morgan Fork Road – three roads in our county that we could not otherwise afford to resurface on our own. This is a big win for Rowan County and the families who travel these roads every day.

Over 33,000 lbs. of Food Delivered to Local Food Banks by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints

The Rowan County Services Building was used to unload and distribute 33,000 pounds of surplus foods for local folks in need through food banks in our region, delivered by the Lexington Kentucky North Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. This was thanks to the efforts of hardworking volunteers, led by JustServe.

Volunteers from organizations receiving food, as well as two local recovery organizations' staff and residents, Rowan County Student Services, Gateway Homeless Coalition, DOVES, Catholic Charities, and members of several local churches joined to help facilitate the distribution.

Those who received food in Rowan County include: Gateway Homeless Coalition, Doves Domestic Violence Center, Rowan County School Resources, God's Pantry, Bluebank Church of God, Johnson Church of God, and Elliottville Apostolic.

Others in our region who received food include: Church of Jesus Christ, Christ's Pantry, Chosen Path Food Bank, Willard Church of Christ, Gregoryville Christian Holiness, Hope's Helping Hands, Centro de San Juan Diego, Sterling Community Food Coalition, Bluegrass Community Health Center, First Baptist Church of Winchester, Sterling Health Care, Nicholas County Senior Extension Services, and Wesley's Place.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and JustServe have been good to Rowan County. We appreciate the efforts they have made to help others, and we look forward to working with them again.

23rd Annual Cave Run Storytelling Festival Returns

The 23rd annual Cave Run Storytelling Festival will be held Sept. 29-30 at the Twin Knobs Recreation area at Cave Run Lake. Nationally and internationally known storytellers for this year's festival include Donald Davis, Kim Weitkamp, Ray Christian, Bill Harley, Regi Carpenter, Linda Gorham and Josh Goforth. Storytellers from across the country are invited to tell at the Cave Run Storytelling Festival because of their ability to select a story that appeals to the specific audience. The expert storytellers invited to this year's festival will speak to the joy and hardships of life that include humor and music.

The first Cave Run Storytelling Festival was held in 1999. The late Dave Manner of the U.S. Forest Service had the idea for the first festival. He thought the event would provide a way for people to enjoy the out of doors and hear some great stories. The festival is known to be one of the best in the nation. Area school students attend the festival on Thursday and Friday. At this time 3200 students from the area as well as Lexington and Ashland are signed up to attend. Approximately 100 volunteers work to direct parking, monitor tents, prepare food for tellers, sell tickets and much more to support this great event. Local businesses and organizations generously support the festival with donations.

MOREHEAD-ROWAN COUNTY AIRPORT RECEIVES STATE GRANT FOR CORPORATE APRON PROJECT

The Morehead-Rowan County Clyde A. Thomas Regional Airport is once again the recipient of a state grant for a significant airport improvement project. On August 21, Governor Andy Beshear announced a $648,184 grant to the community to complete the funding for the construction of a 302 foot x 186 foot (56,172 SF) concrete apron for the future construction of up to six (6) large corporate box hangars. The state funding is in addition to federal grants of $1,272,936 and local funding of $650,637, for a total project cost of $2,571,757 inclusive of engineering, design and construction. The corporate apron project is the largest capital project undertaken by the Airport Board since the initial construction of the airport and its opening in 2007.

The Airport's initial Business Plan received in 2007 focused the Airport Board on multiple growth strategies. The Airports Long Range Land Plan adopted also in 2007 designated the future site for the construction of the corporate hangar apron. More recently, in November 2021 the Airport Board received an updated Strategic Plan. The Board had earlier commissioned Garver Engineering, the Airport's engineer of record, to undertake and update the Board's strategic plan. Corporate hangar partnerships once again were a recommended strategy. "The 1.3 acre corporate apron/pad will allow our airport and community to be responsive to the corporate needs of our current and future economic partners," according to Dr. Bruce Mattingly, Chair of the Morehead-Rowan County Airport Board.

Mattingly added "While the Federal and State grants are obviously critical to our being able to undertake projects of this nature, the past and on-going support of the county and city is equally important. The annual support the Airport Board receives from our sponsors enables us to meet mandated grant matching requirements of the Federal Aviation Administration in addition to allowing us to maintain our facilities and meet operational demands. Our Board knows we can count on this support. Additionally, because of the long-term economic impact that this project will have in the community we also received grant assistance from the Morehead-Rowan County Tourism Commission and the Morehead-Rowan County Industrial Development Authority. The contributions from Tourism and IDA assured the FAA and the Kentucky Department of Aviation of our community's commitment to the Commonwealth's economic future."

Shamrock Concrete, Louisville, KY was low bidder and began construction of the new apron August 14. The estimated completion date is November 14. Garver Aviation designed the project.

An Inside Look: Floodplain Management by Savannah Jackson

Floodplain management is a community-based effort to reduce the risk of flooding, resulting in a more resilient community.

A floodplain typically refers to the land area around a body of water, such as a creek, that will be flooded when the water level comes out of its banks. Floodplains are defined by how often they flood and the probability that they might flood in any given year. FEMA maps these areas for flood insurance purposes through the National Flood Insurance Program.

Rowan County's Flood Damage Prevention Ordinances, which have the purpose of promoting the public health, safety, and general welfare and to minimize public and private loss due to flooding, utilize provisions designed to:

- Restrict or prohibit uses which are dangerous to health, safety, and property due to water erosion hazards, or which result in damaging increases in erosion or in flood height or velocity;
- Require that uses vulnerable to floods, including facilities which serve such uses, be protected against flood damage at the time of initial construction;
- Control the alteration of natural floodplains, stream channels, and natural protective barriers which accommodate or channel flood waters;
- Control filling, grading, dredging, and other development which may increase erosion or flood damage; and,
- Prevent or regulate the construction of flood barriers which will unnaturally divert floodwaters, or which may increase flood hazards to other areas.

Floodplain management is critical to responsible environmental services with far-reaching implications for community stability. The importance of floodplain management cannot be overstated, especially in a time where there have been more frequent and severe weather events. Properly managed floodplains provide a buffer against floodwaters, allowing for reduced flood impact on developed areas. Flood damage can lead to significant financial losses for individuals and businesses alike. By mitigating flood risks through planning, floodplain mapping, and infrastructure improvements, we can also help protect our local economy from the devastating impacts of flooding. Floodplain management plays a vital role in safeguarding lives and property. Through compliance with commonsense floodplain regulations, our community can reduce the risk of catastrophic flooding, minimize property damage, and prevent loss of life during flood events.

Floodplain management is not just a matter of regulatory compliance; it is a fundamental tool for protecting lives, property, economies, and the environment.

Why We Created "An Inside Look"

As part of our mission to keep the public informed of what we do, we created this new recurring section, "An Inside Look", to publish information about the roles, functions, and/or relevant law or policy of different offices, departments, and/or services of county government. It's important to us that this information is accessible, so we publish this newsletter as well as frequently update our online resources, so take a look at our website (rcky.us) and Facebook (@RCFiscalCourt) to see what's new!

Fire Departments Learning at State Fire Rescue Training Area 9

Firefighters from Farmers, Elliottville, and Morehead fire departments completed training on flammable gases at State Fire Rescue Training Area 9 this September. Earlier in August, FVFD also completed Forcible Entry Training. Great work to all!

WILDFIRE RISK REDUCTION SAFETY TIPS

Action Items to Improve Your Home's Survivability:

- REMOVE leaves, pine needles, and other flammable material from the roof, gutters, and on and under the deck to help prevent embers from igniting your home.
- •SCREEN areas below decks and porches with 1/8" wire mesh to help prevent material from accumulating underneath.
- COVER exterior attic and soffit vents with 1/8" wire mesh to help prevent sparks from entering your home.
- •ENCLOSE eaves to help prevent ember entry.
- INSPECT shingles or roof tiles. REPLACE missing shingles or tiles. COVER ends of tiles with bird stops or cement to help prevent ember penetration during a wildfire.

Tips for Landscaping Around Your Home

- •REMOVE dead vegetation and other flammable materials, especially within the first 5 feet of the home.
- KEEP your lawn hydrated and maintained. If it is brown, cut it down to help reduce fire intensity.
- PRUNE tree limbs so the lowest branches are 6 to 10 feet above the ground to help reduce the chance of fire getting into the crowns of the trees.
- MOVE construction material, trash, and woodpiles at least 30 feet away from the home and other outbuildings.
- DISPOSE of branches, weeds, leaves, pine needles, and grass clippings that you have cut to reduce fuel for fire.

Pieces of History: The Civilian Conservation Corps in Rowan Article by Cindy Leach

The CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) was established in 1933 under the administration of the United States Forest Service and President Franklin Roosevelt's Emergency Conservation Act. The CCC was designed to give young boys between the ages 17-28 the dignity of work by building bridges, roads, trails, fire towers, while conserving the forests. The camp workers were treated as if they were in the military – they had a base camp, barracks, and were not permitted off base without a pass. The men in charge were ROTC Officers, Regular Army or retired Army Engineers.

The Commanding Officer of the Morehead Camp was Lt. Roy S. Williams, Superintendent was Bruce L. Vice, Educational Advisor was Earl May and Camp Surgeon was Dr. Everett Blair. The men in charge were ROTC Officers, Regular Army or retired Army Engineers.

The CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) was responsible for the National Forest land in Rowan, Menifee, Morgan, Elliott, and parts of Fleming and Bath Counties. One of their first priorities was fighting fires so they built forty-foot steel fire towers at McCauley Ridge, Hickory Flats, Tater Knob and Triangle. They were all built the same – 14 feet by 14 feet cabin containing two cots, a stove, table, storage box, cabinet, and stool.

The WPA (Works Progress Administration) provided unemployed teachers employment at the camp. They taught literature, reading, writing, leadership, journalism, forestry, typing, first aid, photography, cooking, baking, personal development and more. Church services were also provided for various religious affiliations. Some of the teachers were Sam Johnson, Mary Olive Burgess, Anna Lee Berry, Minnie Gastineau and Bernice Barker.

The boys signed up for six-month stint, and could re-enlist for another six months. All housing, clothing and food was furnished and they were paid thirty dollars a month – twenty-five of this was sent to the families of the workers, while the boys got to keep five dollars a month.

By 1938, the CCC had strung 40 miles of telephone lines, 45 miles of limestone roads including over Clack Mountain, Pretty Ridge, Clay Lick to Menifee County, Lockege Road that ran to the old Cogswell Post Office and Alfrey School. They constructed the CCC Trail from Clearfield to Elliottville and many other roads. Engineers provided the skills needed to build the roads and bridges and the young men did the labor.

Rowan County Public Library Updates

Voter Registration at your Public Library

September is National Voter Registration Month, and your Rowan County Public Library is working to get our community ready to vote! As many as 1 in 4 U.S. citizens aren't sure if their registration is up-to-date and valid, or even if they're registered at all. On top of that, voting misinformation is easy to find and mistake for truth, and lots of people don't believe their vote really counts. It does! That's why RCPL has partnered with the Rowan chapter of Kentuckians for the Commonwealth to sign our neighbors up and help the county to get informed about voting. Contact the library or visit their website at rowancountylibrary.org for more information about how you can get registered to vote, check and update your registration, and avoid misinformation!

September is National Library Card Signup Month

Every September since 1988, libraries across the U.S. have celebrated National Library Card Signup Month as a way to help children access information. The goal is to register as many kids as possible for a library card and share what awaits them at their local library, but there's much more to it: Did you know that a library card is one of the most cost-effective back-to-school tools for parents? Public libraries provide internet access, tutoring and reference services, language learning, specialized study and investigative services like genealogy, and much more—all for free! Not to mention, many libraries partner with other community institutions and organizations to support kids, families, and even adults in need with programs ranging from computer skills classes to the distribution of free hygiene products.

So what are you waiting for? Signing up for a library card is fast, easy, and doesn't cost a penny for Kentucky citizens. During September, registration and replacement cards are free for everybody, even if you live outside of Kentucky! A card is your pass to learning, entertainment, and professional development—plus, signing up for a card is one of the best and most effective ways of supporting your local library. Already have one? Great! Now's your chance to tell friends and family who don't visit the library about everything they're missing. Remember: A library card is elemental, so get yours today!

At the September meeting of the library's Preserving Your Heritage genealogy programming, Cindy Leach lead a presentation and discussion of DNA ancestry testing with actual results from different tests as examples. Attendees learned about sibling DNA, genetic ancestry, how it works, its reliability, and more. Door prizes were drawn, including three free books and one free Ancestry DNA test kit. The RCPL's genealogy programming promotes an awareness of and interest in local history. Cindy's presentations are different every month, covering a wide variety of topics, and often welcomes special guests. Consider attending next month's presentation about the life of Cora Wilson Stewart on October 5th at 5:30pm.

Adopting instead of shopping for pets not only helps save that animal's life but creates a space for another animal's life to be saved. It allows you, the owner, to enjoy all the same rewards of pet ownership. By choosing to adopt, you are choosing to support animal welfare. Consider giving one of our dogs or cats a new chance at your loving home.
